ADVENTISTS IN CAMP

MISSIONARIES FROM PACIFIC ISLANDS AND FAR EAST TO SPEAK

RICHMOND, CAL., July 16.—(Special) — Seventh-day Adventists throughout California conference will meet at Richmond from July 15 to 25 in their annual camp meeting. A tent city is being pitched for the accommodation of between 500 and 1,000 persons who are expected to camp on the grounds, and many others probably will attend the evening meetings, from Richmond, Oakland, Berkeley, San Francisco, Alameda and Fruitvale. It is expected that the attendance at the 10-day meeting will be exceptionally large, owing to the fact that Adventist missionaries will be present from the South Sea Islands, China, Java and Korea. Their description of conditions prevailing in those countries, both before and since the war began, will be of intense interest.

J. E. Fulton, president of the Australasian Union conference, which includes Australia and practically all the island territory in the South Pacific Ocean is expected to arrive in San Francisco about July 20th, and to be at the big meeting. He has been in the South Sea Islands and Australia for 20 years. He and Elder J. M. Cole were the first Adventist missionaries to Fiji. The Adventists now have a strong church upon that island, where the natives formerly were cannibals. President Fulton's headquarters are at Wahroonga, New South Wales.

Miss Petra Tunheim, superintendent of the West Java Mission, who speaks six languages, will attend the meeting, and will exhibit the Javanese costumes, telling of the work being done by the Adventists there. When she was a girl, Miss Tunheim was a shepherdess in Scandinavia. She is here from Java on furlough. R. W. Munson, of St. Helene, a returned missionary from Malaysia, also is expected at the camp meeting.

Francis E. Stafford, returned from Shanghai on furlough, probably will be at the meeting. Among the other leading speakers who wil' be present are: E. E. Andross, of Glendale, president of the Pacific Union conference of the Seventh-day Adventists; E. W. Farnsworth, of Oakland, vice-president; M. E. Cady, educational superintendent for the states of California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona; C. W. Irwin, president of the Pacific Union College at St. Helena; E. J. Hibbard, professor of Biblical exegesis at that college; J. Adams Stevens, of Santa Rosa, president of the Northwestern California conference; N. P. Neilsen, of Fresno, president of the Central California conference; Ernest Lloyd of Glendale, missionary secretary for the Pacific Union conference; F. E. Painter, of Mountain View, field agent; J. L. McElhaney, of Oakland, president of the California conference; C. E. Ford, pastor of the Oakland Seventh-day Adventist church; A. O. Tait and L. A. Reed, of Mountain View, editors of the "Signs of the Times;" James Taphouse, A. S. Marchus and Andrew Brorsen, and others.

The sessions will be held daily, beginning with a devotional meeting each morning at 6 o'clock, and continuing with meetings at 9 and 11 a. m., 2:30 and 7:30 p. m. In addition to these general meetings, which will be in the big canvas pavilion, the young people, children and kindergartners will have separate meetings each day. Large circular tents for all these special meetings have been pitched, as well as a mammoth dining tent. Vegetarian meals will be served. A grocery store and book tent will be in operation on the grounds, all denominational books, periodicals and tracts as well as Bibles being on sale at the latter.

A remarkable fact in connection with the work of the Seventh-day Adventists is that the members are contributing to foreign mission work an amount per capita ten time greater than the average per capita of all the members of the protestant bodies of America, and present indications are that the contributions of this denomination for the current year will exceed the amount given for such purposes during former years. The statistical report for the first quarter of 1915 shows that foreign mission contributions in America given by the Adventists amounted to $9,000 a week, or a per capita for the quarter of $1.62. This is in addition to the tithe, or tenth of the income, which the members give for the support of the ministry, and which amounted during the first quarter of this year to $314,035.55, or $4.27 per capita. The total of all funds contributed by American Adventists during the first three months of the year amounted to $499,747.15, or $6.79 per member.

DOUBLE RAISIN CROP

THE GROWERS OF CALIFORNIA SELL NINETY THOUSAND TONS THIS YEAR

No less an authority than Wylie M. Giffen, president of the California Associated Raisin company, estimates that this year's crop of raisins will approximate 90,000 tons—a quantity which would have glutted the market five years ago. The growers affiliated in the association disposed of nearly 89,000 tons in 1914, and shipments for the first four months of this year were 796 tons ahead of the same period last year. So there is no fear lest the consumption shall fail to keep pace with the increased production. The association's advertising campaign is bearing fruit as well as its vineyards.

The raisin growers' experience may serve as a standing example of what may be done by intelligent merchandising co-operation among producers who are willing to learn by their own mistakes. Five years ago the association was engaged in a campaign of pressagentry which failed to produce the desired results. Instead of condemning the principle of co-operation on that score, however, the blame was placed where it rightfully belonged and a legitimate advertising and merchandising campaign was substituted for the attempts to secure free space. Last year, according to President Giffen, close to $125,000 were invested in advertising and a start was made towards the establishment of a sales force which should represent the association as a whole in supplementing the sales efforts of the individual growers. The net result of the association's efforts is a doubling of the California raisin crop over what it was ten years ago, and the sale of that crop at a profit instead of dumping it on the market in a lump at whatever price it might bring.

WE CHARGE WHEN YOU CHARGE

Do not be afraid of paying out a few cents for the use of printers' ink. Newspapers do a wonderful sight free of charge and it is only fair that reading notices advertising pay affairs should be paid for. The management of the Evening News has no compromise to make with the man or woman who is so unbusinesslike that he or she makes a demand that publicity should be given without charge when advertising entertainments, suppers, etc., for which a charge is made.

Business is business, and it is right that a newspaper should be paid for such services. The majority of people look at this question in a practical and sensible manner; in fact, all business men and business women respect the management of a newspaper who conducts his business upon business principles. In this age the most undesirable citizens are those who are so careless in business methods that such persons are absolutely unreliable and void of business integrity.

GLENDALINSKY

Glendale Commandery K. T. have issued invitations to their first Glendalinsky to be held Thursday evening, July 22, at Masonic temple. Just what a Glendalinsky is, is a mystery to the uninitiated, but it sounds good. No doubt all those favored with invitations will hasten to avail themselves of the opportunity to enjoy this novel and informal affair.

"MORBUS SABBATTICUS"

A disease on the increase, peculiar to church goers. Attacks come usually on Sunday; no symptoms on Saturday. Sound sleep and a late, hearty breakfast. About church time the attack comes on and continues until the services are over for the day. The patient then feels easier and takes a hearty dinner and often is able to go on an afternoon jaunt with no bad effects.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A party of young people gathered at the home of Mr. Chase Ramsay of 1545 Myrtle street to celebrate the young man's fifteenth birthday. The afternoon was spent in playing games on the lawn, after which delicious refreshments were served. The young people departed for their homes wishing him many happy returns of the day.

AN INVITATION TO GIRLS

All girls and young women are cordially invited to join or visit the Philathea class of the Baptist Sunday school which meets every Sunday morning at 9:30. A course of study in the life of Christ is being pursued.

ELKS AT SAN DIEGO

DRILL TEAM OF LOCAL LODGE GOES TO SOUTHERN CITY TO COMPETE FOR CUP

Accompanied by Secretary Clements and Captain Wattles, the Elks' drill team started by the morning train for San Diego. There they will compete for honors and rewards against the crack teams of the country. This drill contest is creating much enthusiasm among the Elks from different parts of the country. The Denver contingent, naturally, back their own team, and San Francisco proudly and coldly asserts that the difference of a point between its own team and that of Denver will be easily wiped out.

San Diego exposition is offering $800 worth of cups to the winners. The evolutions of the contestants will be accompanied by band concerts by the famous Indian reservation band from Yuma and the Thirteenth band, coast artillery corps. In the afternoon and evening the visitors will enjoy concerts by the Mormon tabernacle choir of Ogden, 200 finely trained voices. Emma Lucy Gates, prima donna of the royal operas at Berlin and Cassel will be the leading soloist.

Fully 10,000 Elks have gone to San Diego by special trains today. The brethren from San Diego have done excellent work in perfecting the arrangements for the transportation.

Much interest is being taken by the eastern Elks in the Yuma Indian band of 28 pieces from the Yuma reservation, Arizona, which has been secured for a month's engagement and is now encamped on the exposition grounds and giving concerts daily.

This band is conducted by Prof. Bion E. Mills and under the supervision of Superintendent L. L. Odle of the reservation. The trip to San Diego across the desert from the California-Arizona line into the Imperial valley and across the mountains to the west was made by the redskin musicians in the modern method of motor cars. In addition to traveling in the white man's latest conveyances, the trip was made over white man's roads, which have made the desert traversable by such vehicles.

While the band is an excellent organization musically, its camp life is of almost equal attraction to the easterners. The Indian musicians maintain the camp themselves and present a true picture of Indian life.

THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

One reason why the Elks' order strikes the popular fancy is found in the human love of action. The Elks have ever been an order that "does things." It is innate with human kind to admire the expression of beliefs in action. Carlyle tells us that in the last analysis we believe only to the extent of our expression in action, no matter what we profess.

There is dash about the Elks. They typify youthfulness in many respects. Their enthusiasms are invigorating to observers. More and more they are coming to enthusiasms for benevolence and helpfulness rather than for mere pleasure seeking. Herein they are seeking the fountain of perpetual youth with bright prospect of finding it. A sage of the present day tells us that the foundation of happiness in old age is best laid in cultivating in youth and the days of vigor enthusiasms that will abide through declining years. The helping hand enthusiasm is one of the vital kind that takes its life from what Henry Drummond described as "the greatest thing in the world," love of our fellow men.—Santa Monica Outlook.

RICHMOND BLUES LOST WAY

Considerable consternation was created in the minds of the good people of San Diego the other day when Governor Stuart of Virginia arrived in the southern city without his famous escort, the Richmond Blues, which was separated from him by a diverse itinerary and did not arrive at the San Diego exposition until the day after the governor and his party had gone. Their arrival at that time was practically simultaneous with that of the Salt Lake City high school cadets, composed of 400 boys reputed the finest trained of their kind in America. As the cadets pitched camp at the exposition for a four-day stay and turned out for drill, the comparison of the youths with the famous Richmond Blues on parade was of especial interest to all exposition visitors. Both organizations were variously honored by the military organizations of San Diego at the exposition.

STAGE IN THE WOODS

MRS. CORAL HARRISON SLOAN TELLS OF OUTDOOR PLAY AT EAGLE ROCK

Among the crowds that attended the clever dramatic presentation of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," amid the leafy groves of Eagle Rock, last week, were various Glendale ladies, members of the Ebell club, of the Friday Morning club and of the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale and the Thursday Afternoon club of Tropico. Those ladies did not attend in any official capacity, but as individuals attracted to the performance by the charming play, the clever actors and the natural setting.

Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan, the well-known Shakespeare authority of Glendale, was among those who were delighted spectators of the sylvan drama. Mrs. Sloan said Thursday to a representative of the Glendale Evening News:

"The green sward and grove below the eagle rock is a natural stage. It stretches between two giant oaks, which are a landmark in Eagle Rock park. Nothing could be more convenient than this natural arrangement. The clumps of trees right and left of the stage are natural dressing rooms. Trees form wings for the stage and a gentle natural slope forms a splendid auditorium for the spectators.

"On this natural incline comfortable seats had been arranged and the audience had complete ease and comfort in which to listen to the love tale of the olden days. Everything about the setting of Shakespeare's wonderful drama was managed with an art that showed that a masterful hand was behind it all. From the tall trees around the natural stage electric lights were manipulated with that precision of effect that told of skilled, artistic management. There was not a flaw in the whole presentment of the ancient love tale. The dancing children trained in the Dennishaun school were admirably light and airy in their movements as became fairies. Titania was acted by a little girl of marvelous cleverness, Mira Mandin. This child, who could not have been more than seven or eight years, rose to the height of genius in her portrayal of the fairy queen. Puck was admirably acted by Ednamea Wilson, a child of eight years, who gave a masterly interpretation of the flighty, mischievous, artful fairy. All the actors and actresses showed the results of careful training and native genius.

"Undoubtedly the best of the secondary actors was Max Pollock, who acted "Quince" to the life, with admirable conception of just how that character should be given. The best among the women was Arri Rottman, who played "Helena." She was born for that part. Her acting was charmingly conservative and delicate, with a sweet womanliness running through it all that added greatly to the effect of the part.

"However, it is rather invidious to make distinctions where all were so excellent. It would be difficult to assemble a company better able to convey the meaning of Shakespeare's fanciful genius in "Midsummer Night's Dream" than the clever men, women and children assembled at Eagle Rock and trained and instructed by Mr. Reginald Pole, the world-famous Shakespearean enthusiast and professional dramatic trainer of London, England. Mr. Pole himself took the part of "Demetrius" and acted it with artistic finish. The performance was given at the instance of the Civic Repertory company.

"During the intermission the audience gave marked expression to its approval and appreciation of the wonderful presentation of this delicate drama. Among those who were definite in their expression of approval was Mrs. Foy of San Rafael, who is famous for her thorough understanding of things dramatic and of Shakespeare in particular. Mrs. Foy is deeply interested in the work being done in the Shakespeare club of Glendale and has done much to encourage its members to go on to greater accomplishment."

CHECKER TOURNAMENT

Stimulated by Mr. Julius Lehman, the active and popular superintendent of the Union high school summer playground, in conjunction with Mr. Howard, another checker expert, a checker tournament is now being arranged. There are many checker amateurs and experts in Glendale and it only needs a little encouragement to bring them forth and to display their talents to the world of draughts lovers. Mr. Lehman counsels all checker amateurs to begin brushing up their tricks and traps and wiles and be ready for the approaching contest.

WANTS BALL TEAM

PLAYGROUND SUPERINTENDENT HAS SEVERAL CHALLENGES FOR SATURDAY NINE

Juvenile baseball enthusiasts are greatly excited over the prospect of a new Saturday baseball team in Glendale. Mr. Julius Lehman, the new summer superintendent of the playground at the Union high school, is busy trying to get up a team and makes an appeal to al' interested in this matter to lend their aid.

It should be possible to get a team to represent Glendale during the summer months on Saturday afternoons. Challenges have been received from a Burbank team, and another team engineered by J. Carlton Padelford and Frank Budway is anxious to measure its strength on the diamond against the elite of youthful Glendale. The game, if it can be gotten up, will certainly attract a large number of spectators who are eager for some such amusement.

This afternoon Mr. Lehman was keeping the score and superintending generally the ball game between the Central avenue boys and the high school boys. Those playing constitute the fourth team and are mostly boys from 10 to 12. In the second boys' team Raymond Witt is the catcher and Raymond Camargo the pitcher. They and the other boys are enthusiasts as anyone can see by watching them play. The teams engaged Thursday afternoon were pretty evenly matched.

Mr. Lehman is finding his work very pleasant and agreeable. The boys are well behaved and susceptible of direction and training. They appreciate the benefits of the summer playground and look the picture of health. The parents of those boys who are under the direction of the new superintendents have much reason for thankfulness for the interest taken in the matter of providing playgrounds for the summer by the Parent-Teacher federation and the work done by the committee which has turned out such a success.

Miss Rowe and Hastings Bidwell are hard at work in their spheres of duty and reports from them will shortly be published.

Mr. Lehman says that he has met with great success in organizing the tennis tournament, which will shortly come off. Already there are twenty entries of the seniors and fourteen of the juniors. The superintendent is anxious that some of the liberal souls in Glendale should offer some appropriate, not necessarily expensive, prizes in connection with the tournament. Such prizes would add some zest to the struggle.

Among others who are diligently practicing in view of the approaching tournament are Ed Sadler and Morse Preeman, who are credited with being likely winners of the gentlemen's doubles. Sadler and Preeman make a good team and thoroughly understand each other's play. Other active and skillful players are Ray Morrow, Carlton West and the Balthis brothers.

During the past few days there has been an average of sixty boys on the Union high school playground daily. There have been very few girls, however. The reason for the absence of the girls seems to be that with the exception of tennis there is nothing to attract them and then every girl does not play tennis, neither is it possible for many of them to play at once. Until some other attraction is offered, it is feared that this dearth of girls on the Union high school playground will continue.

Altogether, however, as far as reported up to date, the new superintendent system is doing good work and the public will await with interest the report of Miss Rowe as to what she has accomplished. One thing is certain—the children themselves have no doubt of the value of the playgrounds, judging from the manner in which they avail themselves of the privileges afforded them there.

STRIKE HOT PACE

NUMBER MAKE BIG GAINS—NOW THE TIME TO SUPPORT YOUR CANDIDATE

Second Extra Vote Offer

Here's the second big extra vote offer of the contest. Forty thousand extra votes will be issued on every $25 worth of new subscriptions to the Evening News or Tri-City Progress turned into the Glendale Evening News office between Saturday, July 17, and Saturday, July 31, at 8 o'clock p. m. All daily subscriptions to count on this offer must be for at least three months, and all subscriptions to the Tri-City Progress must be for one year or longer.

Tomorrow you have a chance to see the vote of your favorite contestant. Nearly all the candidates are running at a winning pace, and a poor place in tomorrow's published list does not necessarily mean that your contestant does not have a chance as many are holding back reserve votes. The list shows that in the main the entries in this great campaign are working hard to secure a prize, but it also shows that the contest is just well started and that there is still a chance for a hustler to enter now and win out. In fact, by taking advantage of the new extra vote offer that starts tomorrow a new entry could pile up an enormous score inside the two weeks, and the candidates who did not take the advantage of the first vote offer that was possible, still have a good chance to come in strong on this second bonus vote.

An $850 Maxwell touring car, fully equipped, is surely a prize that is worth working for, and a prize that someone right here in Glendale, Tropico, Burbank or vicinity will surely win, and that someone might as well be you. The Maxwell touring car was purchased of the Maxwell-King agency at the corner of Colorado and Brand boulevards, and will soon be on display at the showrooms of this garage or in front of the Evening News office.

Next in desirability and in point of value in the list of prizes comes the $400 Schiller piano, a pure-toned instrument, with a highly finished mahogany case, one of the most attractive medium-priced instruments to be found in the large showrooms of the Platt Music company of Los Angeles, from which firm it was purchased.

The trip to the exposition, with expenses prepaid, will also be a most desirable one this autumn when California weather will be at its best. This trip may be yours if you miss both the first and second prizes and win the third.

In addition to the three grand prizes are the district prizes, which include three $75 scholarships to the Isaacs-Woodbury Business college of Los Angeles, the $50 bank deposit at the First National bank of Glendale and other prizes to be announced later.

THE BUILDING SPIRIT

It has been announced from various sources that the building spirit is low at the present time in all parts of the country. There is really more building going on in Glendale than in any other city of its population at the present time. Even if times are a little slow, that should not be a cause for a stagnation in building. There are men who have money with which to build, and there was never a time when building material and help could be gotten so reasonable as at present. Looking at the building question from this point of view, this is just the right time for speculators to invest money in building.

There is at present a scarcity of desirable dwelling houses in Glendale so why is it not a safe investment for the man who has the surplus money to use for building purposes.

NEW RESIDENT

Mr. Kenneth F. Vail, formerly of Hartford, Conn., has recently opened an office at Lilly & Whiting's real estate office. He is acting as subagent for Claude L. Hamilton of Los Angeles, selling ranches and farmlands located four miles north of Fresno. The county of Fresno is considered the richest of the state and produces some of the largest and richest crops. Considering prices, abundance of water and improvements, Mr. Vail has one of the best investments on the market today. He wishes to put his proposition before all people that really are in the market for good land.

AMERICA'S NEW DEFENSE

After all the United States is not to be left in these days of danger naked to its enemies. In many ways, as was pointed out in these columns some time ago, it may have been a blessing in disguise that the purblind legislators of congress refused to go ahead with an ample naval building program. Providence appears to have had special favor for this free land in so far as it has been spared invasion by a foreign foe during the time that it lay practically defenceless.

Just at this moment when it has been shown that the United States fleet is so far out of date that it could be pounded to pieces by a foe who would be able to lie easily out of range, there comes the period of submarine warfare which so discounts the most powerful superdreadnaught that naval authorities are in doubt as to whether or not those huge vessels possess any value.

In such an extremity it is found that this country has probably saved money by its shortsighted policy and that while there was nothing save Providence to defend this land, that defense was effective, and that now the government is face to face with the problem of providing for an entirely new set of conditions.

What this country must face is the devising of means to prevent the blockading of its ports by the sea-going submarines of a foreign power. An object lesson in that direction is given the country this week in the warning issued by the Canadian authorities to the effect that ocean-going vessels leaving Canadian ports must look out for German submarines.

It would be interesting to learn what Mr. Bryan has to say on this point. Not long ago he gave as a reason for not providing an adequate army and navy that the United States was too far away from any foreign country to fear their interference with shipping or invasion by means of land troops. Here, now, is the terror at the doors of the United States. The German submarines are supposed to be in waiting somewhere off the coast of Maine or thereabouts. If this country had any merchant shipping it can be easily imagined what havoc the wasp of the subocean would work among it. As it is there is no doubt that among other purposes Germany intends this as a silent response to the remonstrances of the United States.

Under these circumstances it is reassuring to learn that Secretary Daniels has induced Thomas Edison to accept the position of head of an advisory board of civilian inventors for a bureau of invention to deal with the grave dangers of submarine warfare. If anyone can invent a means of drawing the sting of the sea-wasp it is Edison.

BRITAIN'S COLOSSAL WAR LOAN

There are some interesting features about Britain's new war loan. In the first place it is colossal. As a matter of fact it is the largest war loan ever issued. It is not to be supposed that the British intended it as a vaunt or boast or threat toward the Germans, but in reality it is a very complete answer to the continental critics who have been supposing that the British were not heartily in support of their government's policy in this war.

The loan is issued at 4½ per cent. In the days of the Boer war all the money needed was obtainable at 3 per cent. Then, however, only about $2,000,000,000 was needed for the whole war. In the present case this single loan amounts to more than $3,000,000,000. Interest at 4½ per cent is highly significant. It shows how vital is the present war and how anxious the British government is to obtain the support of the small subscriber, who usually has to eye the war loans from afar. The holders of consols are also offered large inducements to convert their present holdings at a rate which would give them almost double the interest they are now receiving annually.

This new loan has thrown open the field of investment in government securities to a very large class of people who formerly had little interest in government funds and who beyond investment in postoffice securities had no opportunity to share in such investments. Now the new "Five Shilling Loan" takes in all the small investors. Even a British workman must be poor indeed if he cannot spare five shillings ($1.25) for a good investment like this.

Such a feature as this was certain to secure the success of the new loan. As it stands at present it has been oversubscribed and the government has been successful in obtaining offers of money amounting to nearly $4,000,000,000.

PROPOSALS FOR PEACE

That proposals for peace should be considered possible at this moment by those who are conversant with European war affairs is indicative of the strain the war has imposed on all the nations of Europe. It would be good news did it come in any definite form, but it is to be feared that strong peace advocates like Jane Addams of Chicago are apt to interpret European politeness too favorably for the cause they have so much at heart.

Miss Addams is credited with telling the authorities at the White House that all the foreign ministers of different European countries with whom she spoke were ready to consider proposals. Jane Addams is an excellent lady, well-balanced mentally also, but without the necessary perspective on European statesmen and diplomats to be able to gauge their sincerity in conventional statements of this kind.

It is curious to note how quickly the London Financial News caught up the echo of this peace discussion and came out with a report that Germany was making tentative peace proposals through the United States. There is no doubt that if there were any substantial foundation for such a report, it would be news that would be eagerly welcomed in certain European quarters. At the same time it must be remembered that there is little indication of Germany's slackening her efforts in the field of war.

All the combatant nations, however, are badly exhausted by this awful expenditure of men and money and are beginning to realize their sadly crippled condition. It would not be wonderful if some of them are casting longing eyes on the possibilities of peace. If such should be the case, the United States will naturally be the mediator and will add greatly to its prestige should peace arrive through its efforts.

TAKE UP SOME HOBBY

Nowadays most doctors advise their rich middle aged patients to take up a hobby to keep their blood in circulation and to keep their thoughts flowing in even natural channels. The United States government takes a great interest in the health of its masses and bulletins sent out from Washington contain much common sense. Here are some of the latest maxims of "Doctor U. Sam:"

"The death rate after the age of 40 is increasing in spite of more sanitary modes of living and greater protection against communicable disease The expectation of life after 40 is less than it was thirty years ago. This is due largely to increased prevalence of the diseases of degeneration.

"The muscles, arteries and other organs of those who, as a result of sedentary occupation or indulgence, take too little exercise, degenerate. Heart disease, kidney disease and other ills follow.

"Take exercise. Take exercise daily. Have a hobby that gets you out of doors. Walk to your business, to your dressmaker's; walk for the sake of walking. Join a walking club and keep your weekly score of miles. Keep chickens, make a garden, wheel the baby or play golf, or any other game, but take two hours outdoor exercise every day.—Venice Vanguard.

HOW NEEDLEWOMAN CAN SET COLORS IN WOOLS

A needlewoman who does a great deal of embroidery in colored wools always takes the precaution of setting the colors before using them.

She soaks the wools for at least an hour in boiling water, to which a teaspoonful of vinegar has been added. At the end of an hour she hangs them up to dry, patting but not wringing out the moisture.

The first finger of the left hand of the woman who does much sewing, embroidering or crocheting becomes much disfigured because of pricking of the needle. In some instances the finger becomes very sore.

To prevent disfigurement and soreness, put a strip of court plaster on the fingers. Such precaution is especially worth while when working on delicate fabrics.

TAKING NO CHANCES

The small boy had quarreled violently with his little neighbor across the street. His aunt told him that he must go to his little friend's house, kiss him and say that he was sorry.

The youthful belligerent demurred. "You go kiss him, auntie," he said; "I might bite him."—Exchange.

ART CRITICISM

"This artist," remarked the teacher at the conclusion of the drawing lesson, "painted many other beautiful pictures, which were hung in the galleries of Paris. Now I want you little boys and girls to write me a composition about this great painter."

One of said little boys wrote, "The artist painted many beautiful pictures, for which he was hung on the gallows in Paris."—Chicago Herald.

BURBANK BOARD TRANSACTS BUSINESS

The regular meeting of the Burbank Board of Trustees was held Tuesday afternoon, with President Blanchard presiding, and Messrs. Kline, Forbes and Craig, present, and Hogle, absent.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. On motion of Councilman Kline, Ordinance No. 86, amending a certain other ordinance, fixing the compensation of certain officers was read for the first time.

This ordinance fixes the salary of the recorder at $25 instead of $10, as at present.

Ordinance No. 85, regulating traffic and travel on certain streets was read the second time and regularly declared adopted with no dissenting vote.

This ordinance rules that all vehicles must use the right sides of the streets when in motion, and when stopped must face the way traffic is moving, that is on the streets running east and west, those stopping on the south sides of the streets must have their machines and other vehicles facing east, while those stopping on the north sides of the streets must face the west. In like manner, those stopping on streets running north and south, must face the south on the west sides of the streets and face the north on the east sides.

On motion the agreement between the Electric light department and M. J. Groshong, relative to light installation in Mr. Groshong's new residence, was approved.

On regular motion the following bills, having been audited and approved, were allowed:

P. T. & T. Co. $10.00
Mrs. Myrtle Colson 45.00
Dr. E. H. Thompson 35.00

Board then adjourned until next regular session.

HOW TO PRESERVE THE TEETH BY FASTIDIOUS CARE

Bad teeth are a very severe handicap to a pretty face—or to a plain one, for that matter—and a handicap also to one's health. Unbounded mischief is caused through neglected teeth, neuralgia, indigestion—often leading to serious internal trouble—defective eyesight and so on.

It is a significant fact that British authorities have declined on the score of defective teeth to accept the services of many young men wishing to enlist for the war.

In our grandmothers' days dentistry was practically unknown and the toothbrush a new item among one's toilet articles. A dose of medicine was supposed to cure the face ache. But today, amid all our modern improvements, a visit to the dentist is neither an expensive nor a very terrible affair, and there is really no excuse for neglected teeth.

Decay is, of course, the most dreaded factor in connection with teeth. But prevention is better than cure, and we can ourselves keep decay at bay if proper precautions are used.

Teeth should be cleaned at least twice a day and a mouth wash used after meals to remove food secretions will also prove beneficial. An excellent recipe may be prepared as follows:

Oil of peppermint, 1 part.
Thymol, 44 parts.
Tincture of myrrh, 8 parts.
Alcohol (90 per cent), 500 parts.
Water, 100 parts.

Shake well and add a few drops to a glass of warm water. Any chemist will make it up cheaply.

One of the most cleansing properties is precipitated chalk mixed with a little cold water. It not only prevents decay, but preserves the enamel and helps to keep the whole mouth in a healthy condition. This preparation should be applied to the teeth and gums night and morning and the toothbrush rubbed up and down into every crevice.

After cleaning the teeth it is a good plan to drop the brush into a half tumbler of soda water. The toothbrush needs its daily wash just as much as anything else, and the soda will cleanse it from any impurities which may lurk between its bristles.

Sweets and acid properties attack the enamel of the teeth. If the mouth is rinsed out with limewater this will preserve the whiteness.

Don't ever put pins or needles in your mouth. It is one of the easiest means of promoting decay. If necessary fine silk thread or dental floss may be drawn through the crevices.

Dark stains are often due to a deposit of tartar, which is apt to form along the bottom row of teeth. Scaling by a reliable dentist should take place at regular intervals and the trouble will thus be removed.

A sound set of teeth is a great blessing to its owner, but on the slightest signs of decay, it is always best to consult a dentist. One decayed tooth may ruin three or four others, however sound they may appear, and though we may in later years have substitutes, no teeth are ever quite the same as those nature provided us with originally.

AN APPRECIATION

Some time ago I accepted an invitation to become a member of the Glendale Shakespeare club meeting every Wednesday morning at 1550 Myrtle street. Since the first meeting I had the privilege of attending I have made it a point to be present at every session, feeling that if I missed one of the important meetings I should be suffering a genuine loss.

Our teacher, Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan, is the finest exponent of Shakespeare that it has ever been my privilege to hear.

Just the week previous to my first lesson in the Glendale Shakespeare club I had decided fully upon a post graduate course in the university at Berkeley. After hearing Mrs. Sloan I came to realize fully the fact that right here in Glendale—right at my very door was the greatest opportunity I could ever have for the study of Shakespeare under a master.

While Mrs. Sloan is still a young woman, comparatively, her opportunities for study and research have been almost unlimited.

Added to Mrs. Sloan's ability from a scholastic point, as a teacher, one comes to realize the power of her wonderful voice, her unparalleled facial expression and in short her great talent while listening to these interpretative recitals from week to week.

While Mrs. Sloan was giving special instructions to the students of Stanford university, she read before the noted actor, Richard Mansfield, in San Francisco and received from this great scholar and critic the very highest praise.

The Glendale Shakespeare club might have searched the country over and failed to find one so well fitted to instruct their members as is our own Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan.

TO PREVENT FOREST FIRES

With the opening of the season of fire danger on most of the national forests, the forest service is sending broadcast a warning that more than half of the forest fires in the United States are due to carelessness or other preventable causes, starting from campers, railroad locomotives, brush burning, incendiaries and sawmills.

This statement is based on an analysis of statistics compiled from the forest fire records of the last season, when more than 7000 fires were reported on national forests alone and approximately 10,000 on state and private holdings in the eighteen states which received federal co-operation in fire protection under the Weeks law, namely: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Oregon, Washington, South Dakota, Montana and Idaho.

Forest fires destroy millions of dollars' worth of timber and other property every year, and in some years cause considerable loss of life. It has been estimated from the best information obtainable that forest fires last year burned over an area of approximately 6,000,000 acres, with a total loss of at least $9,500,000.

SMART ANIMALS

Humanity has every reason to be grateful to animals. They have taught us some of our most useful arts, and have suggested the idea for many an invention.

It was the beaver that showed us the possibilities of building under water; the bee brought us the conception of regularity in building; the birds are the oldest masters of basket-work; they, too, have furnished every inventor who has attempted to design a flying-machine with his basic principles; the spiders have taught us the art of weaving and suspending a net.

Man learned how to construct ships from fish; how to dig holes from the badger, and the frog gave him his first swimming lessons.—Humane Advocate.

FILMS FOR THE FUTURE

In 1965, fifty years hence, there will be shown a moving picture film of the San Diego exposition and the Panama canal, the completion of which the exposition commemorates. An automobile was driven through the exposition grounds a few days ago while a camera man employed by Lyman H. Howe, well-known traveler, recorded scenes on a film which will not be shown in San Diego for half a century. The films were made that the future generation might see what a great project was handled by San Diego in 1915. The ceremony of putting the films away was engaged in by the exposition directors and witnessed by a large crowd. The films of the exposition, as well as those of the Panama canal, were placed in a copper receptacle, sealed and then turned over to the exposition's historian, who placed them in a safety deposit vault. Included in the receptacle is a drawing of the motion picture machine which made the films. Across the seal of the receptacle is a notice reading: "Films of the Panama canal and the San Diego exposition. Not to be opened and displayed until July 7, 1965." This is signed by all the exposition directors.
